DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2, 5-8, 12-15, 18-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McClintock # 957,985 in view of Rinninger # 4,792,257.

McClintock discloses a concrete, cube-shaped paving stone (c) with sharp edged corners. Each face of said paving stone being planar such that the distances between the planar sides are equal and that each side of said paving stone can be used as the upper surface of the paving stone.

What McClintock does not disclose is a paving stone having a rounded portion.

However, Rinninger '257 teaches it is desirable to provide paving stones having planar sides, tops and bottoms; with clothodial rounded portions(31) that extend over $\frac{1}{4}$ - $\frac{1}{6}$ th of at least one face; in order to improve water "flow-off" from the top surface of the stone.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to provide the cube shaped paving stone of McClintock, with at least one clothodially rounded edge, in order to improve water drainage of the pavement formed by the paving stones.

In regards to Claims 13, 23 McClintock specifically discloses the desirable advantages to randomly spreading, leveling and grading the paving stones, to provide an aesthetically pleasing appearance and a strong, flat wearing surface provided by the paving stones. Rinninger teaches it is desirable to provide cuboidal paving stones with clothodially rounded edges, to at least a few of the paving stone faces, to permit surface water drainage, which inherently increases the safety of the paved surface, during rainfall. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to form the paved surface of McClintock, such that the paving stones are arranged in a random order, which permits at least a few of the paving stones to form drainage passages, as taught by Rinninger in order to increase the safety of the roadway.

2. Claims 3, 4, 16, 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McClintock # 957,985 in view of Rinninger # 4,792,257 as applied to claims 1, 14 above, and further in view of Rice # 3,008,256.

McClintock in view of Rinninger disclose using plurality of differently sized paving stones, in order to form a composite paving surface, having a varied and non-monotonous appearance. What McClintock in view of Rinninger does not disclose is the specific combination of paving stones to include additional blocks that are twice the length and/or twice the width of the standard cuboid stone.

However, Rice discloses it is desirable to form paving stones with score lines (24, 26) in order to form a plurality of differently sized paving stones and to use said combination of stones in various patterns to form an appealing surface. See col. 2, lns. 26-col. 3, ln. 4.

Response to Amendment

3. The amendment filed 8/22/2003, adding New Claims 14-23 and correcting the 112 2nd paragraph rejection(s) of the Last Office Action, is acknowledged. The correction to the structural limitations of Claim 1, and the inclusion of additional claims, has necessitated a new grounds of rejections, addressing the positional relationships between the planar faces(or portions thereof), as now required by the amendments.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

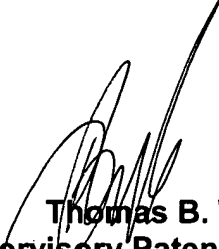

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
